

WINDOWS ON THEOLOGY

Continuous Learning at Regis College

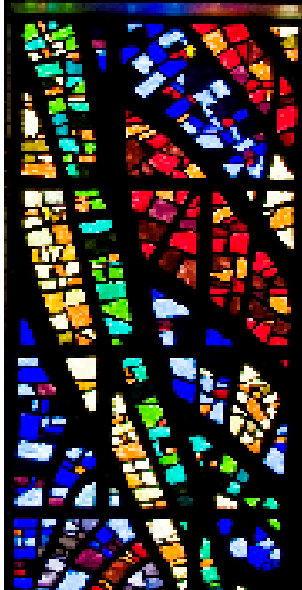

Non-credit courses for 2010 - 2011

Theology as a Spiritual Practice

Instructor: Gordon Rixon, S.J.

Conversion, religious narrative and theological reflection motivate and guide spiritual practice and transforming action in the world. This course will consider topics such as revelation, scripture, tradition, authority, reason and science as students explore the sources, approaches and norms of faith-filled participation in contemporary culture and civil society.

Starting Thursday September 23, 2010 from 11am - 1pm for 8 weeks

Paul: The Apostle We Never Knew

Instructor: Scott Lewis, S.J.

The many negative or positive opinions that people have about Paul the Apostle are often based on misinterpretation or an incomplete picture. Modern scholars study Paul in his first century context using his seven authentic letters. We are presented with an iconoclastic visionary with a challenging message for the culture and religious establishment of his time and our own. We will examine Paul's vision of a new world without borders – a world that reflects God's compassionate justice.

Starting Tuesday January 11, 2011 from 11am - 1pm for 8 weeks

Pre-registration is required. Enrolment is limited. No on-site registration will be accepted.

Course fee: $125.00 or $220.00 for both courses

Courses will be held at Regis College at 100 Wellesley Street West, Toronto
